Veining, colours, tactile and visual appeal: marble is the noble material par excellence. Thanks to new technology, designers have rediscovered this material to give life to projects with a sculptural appeal, which enhance the beauty of this material, also by means of a dedicated approach to texture. In line with its philosophy, 1741 unveils the skill of master marble cutters but in a contemporary manner. Calacatta marble and Travertine are the references for a project that superimposes 3D textures and patterns. The result is a new era of this noble stone.

Ossidi's inspiration comes from the past, from the ceramic workshops of the 19th century, where metal oxides were used to alter the colour and to create beautifully subtle decorations on artisan cementine tiles.

Ossidi is a series of small-size floor and wall tiles with a striking appearance: full, solid colours, novel patterns and original sizes come together to create entirely new decorative combinations.

Marca Corona highlights the versatility of Ossidi with an innovative product communication strategy: the Ossidi catalogue is the result of an ambitious re-design project for a home in Milan, in which the Ossidi cementine tiles were used to transform every room, from the kitchen to the living area, as well as the bedrooms and bathrooms, resulting in a home with a uniquely vibrant, post-industrial flavour.

The glossy finish creates a surface with a realistic polished, reflecting effect, slightly discontinuous and characterised by surface movement. Suitable for residential settings and areas where no particular anti-slip performance is specified and/or required. Recommended for use indoors only, not directly in contact with the outdoors, so as to keep the surface looking glossy.

TYPE is the new collection inspired by metal sheet, which combines industrial style and elegance. The raw appearance of metal is softened by delicate oxidation and wear effects. Type gives residential and commercial spaces an appeal that is both bold and sophisticated. Thanks to its colour palette and elegant look, Type reinvents the industrial minimalism to fit into city interiors and match with elements of contemporary design.

Vintage brings feelings of authenticity and the attention to detail of craftsmen to spaces. Its look is characterised by knots and veining and by a worn effect that brings to mind hand-made wooden tabelle. The return to tradition becomes the inspiration behind the ideal element for contemporary venues and architectural renovation contexts.
